REASONS

to pursue the GAC

The ACT® Global Assessment Certificate™ (GAC) is an internationally recognized university preparation program that provides students with the academic knowledge, skills, and confidence to thrive in a bachelor's degree program. The GAC is the only international program of its type, which includes preparation for the ACT® university admissions test as part of its curriculum.

Here are eight reasons students should consider pursuing the GAC.

Admission

The GAC, through its network of Pathway Universities, provides a path to admission at some of the world's top schools.

English Language Proficiency

The GAC curriculum is taught 100 percent in English, providing students a real-life laboratory for perfecting their English language skills.

Differentiation

The GAC offers students a way to differentiate themselves among other university-bound students at home and abroad.

The ACT Test

GAC students have the opportunity to sit for the ACT close to home if not at their own schools.

Competencies

The GAC program helps students develop real-world competencies that are critical for success in both higher education and the work-force.

Transfer Credit

GAC graduates may qualify for significant transfer credit at many US universities.

Global Perspective

The GAC gives students a new way to work and interact with the world that is critically important in our global economy.

Scholarships

GAC graduates may qualify for scholarships at some universities.
